Enterprise issues:

What if I have several sites?

Green Guestbook provides Enterprise Licenses for multiple sites or sites that want to run several, distinct GGBs in one place. Enterprises must be part of a recognized consortia, group or entity; be willing to pay from one invoice; and designate an Enterprise Administrator. The first site pays the full cost of the system including the screen. Each additional site will pay for their screen and only 30% of the cost of the license. If the Enterprise so chooses, they may divide the savings of each additional license between all the subscribers in the Enterprise. Everyone saves money.

Because there are discounts for not-for-profits and governmental entities, Enterprises must be comprised of either all commercial or all non-commercial entities. Please contact us for specific pricing for your Enterprise's needs. We are always happy to help.

What should we do about people who are uncomfortable with using the touch screen?

At first, when GGB is very new you may want to train your front door staff to walk guests through the signing process. We provide all new subscribers with a Power Point presentation for training. You may also want to offer an incentive to sign to encourage maximum participation. Once GGBs are commonplace, most guests will be familiar with it and many will be returning signers, this will speed up the process and make things simpler for all of us.

Will there be lines waiting to sign?

Perhaps, like any computer screen in a public space, Green Guestbook will attract attention as people learn about and 'play' with the system. If your site has large groups at once or many entrances or areas to visit, you may want to consider installing multiple screens. If you have many people at once only a few times per year, you might want to consider renting extra screens from us just when you need them. Please contact us with your needs and we will arrange to get extra screens to you.
